

Welcome Address Mayor of Limassol
Mr Yiannis Armeftis
The Wealth Week Cyprus
9.6.2026 – Amathus Hotel – 10.00 a.m.

Distinguished guests,
Ladies and gentlemen,

It is my great pleasure to welcome you all to Limassol and to the distinguished Wealth Week Cyprus 2026 conference.

I strongly believe that this high-level gathering will provide us with valuable insights, meaningful dialogue, and important opportunities for collaboration among leading professionals from across the international wealth sector. We are especially proud that Limassol is hosting an event of such international significance.

Over the past years, Limassol and Cyprus more broadly, has experienced remarkable growth and transformation.

This progress brings new opportunities, but also significant responsibilities.

It requires flexibility, strategic thinking, and the necessary knowledge to manage wealth effectively and ensure its sustainable and impactful use.

Today, Cyprus continues to strengthen its position as an emerging hub for foreign investment, financial services, technology, entrepreneurship, and digital innovation.

Limassol, in particular, has become a dynamic international business centre, driven by a thriving luxury real estate market, a competitive tax framework, and a strong professional services sector.

Ladies and gentlemen,

What makes Wealth Week Cyprus 2026 especially important is its ability to bring together a diverse and influential international community.

Through keynote speeches, panel discussions, and open-floor conversations, this conference creates the ideal environment for productive exchange between private clients and fintech founders, advisors and family offices, digital asset specialists, as well as regulatory and tax professionals from the United Kingdom, Cyprus, Switzerland, the United Arab Emirates, the United States, and many other countries.

Set against the backdrop of Limassol, one of the fastest-growing international wealth destinations in the Eastern Mediterranean, this event provides a platform where the conversations that truly matter can take place.

The conference audience and speakers represent a broad spectrum of expertise, including international tax, trust, and legal advisors; corporate service providers; banking and investment professionals; real estate developers; technology, AI, and fintech companies; as well as private clients, families, and both single-family and multi-family offices from Cyprus and abroad.

By bringing together so many key pillars of the international wealth industry on a single platform, initiatives such as this contribute significantly to positioning Cyprus firmly on the global map as a respected and competitive international wealth destination.

I would like to congratulate the organisers on their vision and dedication in bringing this important conference to Limassol, and I wish all participants a productive, inspiring, and successful event.

Thank you.